

We're here, we're working and we're expanding!

As we all find ourselves in a state of 'wtf', (what's the future), here at City Seals, we have been trying to take control of ours and forge our own "new normal". So, we have put together a range of new tools, services and products to help you tread your path back to work.

New! Technical Help Desk

For years, we have taken pride in being an open, accessible business with one of the most active trade counters in the region. A place where you can bring your current task, a pile of debris or a sketched-out concept and get what you need, see what fits, or discuss ideas.

Well you still can, but we are making this service more accessible since coronavirus seems determined to limit the number of you that we can see at once. The days are gone for a cosy coffee and chat whilst you wait!

For now!

So now it's easy to get that support. No need to leave the home office or queue at a safe distance, just visit..
